

The world of LOCUS-SOLUS SEPTENTRIO CONTINENT

The world was called "Locus-Solus".

There is no knowing who gave it that name, but in ancient language it roughly means "Remain Place".

The biggest continent in Locus Solus is Septentrio.
With the sacred land "Silver-Flamed Holy Castle" at its core,
the continent overall splits up into four major powers.

In the west is the empire where people prosper, Justitia.
Bound with the floating magical mermaid island Fortuna in the eastern grand country of sorcery, Ars Magna.
In the barren south lies the gold-copper alloy kingdom made of sand and machines, Lapineas.
The north, covered by ice and snow which never melts, is the silver country, Argentum.

This is a continent where various countries, various races, and people with plenty of individuality reside, but Astor has absolutely no interest in what goes on beyond his property, so those countries will probably not appear in this story.